

Title: Whistleblower Protection Policy; Faculty, Staff and StudentsPolicy Reference: By-Laws of Benedictine University*Background:

A University demonstrates accountability for its conduct by having in place a mechanism for members of its community to let the University know if they become aware of concerns about how its business is being conducted. A number of federal and state laws provide protection for those “whistleblowers” within an organization who reveal misconduct to those in authority.

Policy Statement:

Benedictine University (“University”) expects its trustees, officers, faculty and staff to advance the University’s mission of an inclusive academic community dedicated to teaching and learning, scholarship and service, truth and justice, as inspired by the Catholic intellectual tradition, the social teaching of the Church, and the principles of wisdom in the Rule of St. Benedict. The University expects its trustees, faculty and staff to conduct their activities in accordance with University policies and procedures and all applicable laws, rules and regulations. The University strongly encourages all trustees, faculty, staff and students to report suspected or actual misconduct by Benedictine employees through channels that the University establishes for such reporting. No University faculty member, administrator, staff member or student may interfere with the good faith reporting of suspected or actual wrongful conduct, and no individual who makes such a good faith report shall be subjected to retaliation, including harassment or any adverse employment, academic or educational consequence, as a result of making a report. Diligent efforts will be made to protect the individual making a complaint from retaliation for his/her good faith activities in the initiation of, or cooperation with an inquiry or investigation of wrongful conduct. The University will not tolerate retaliation and will take whatever action is necessary and appropriate to address a violation of this policy, up to and including dismissal from employment.

Definitions:

- Misconduct: Violations of law, rule or regulation; the willful failure to comply with federal or state requirements or University policies or procedures; use of University or research funds, facilities or staff for unauthorized and/or illegal activities; conflicts of interest; and any unethical or dishonest conduct. A non-exhaustive list of misconduct includes:
 - a) Bribes or kickbacks
 - b) Disclosure of confidential information
 - c) Excessive gift(s) from a vendor
 - d) Falsification of time sheets or University records
 - e) Improper financial reporting
 - f) Inappropriate relationships with employees, students or vendors.
 - g) Information security breach
 - h) Misuse of sponsored research funds
 - i) Purchase of personal items with University funds
 - j) Questionable accounting/auditing
 - k) Research misconduct

- l) Sexual or other forms of harassment of, or discrimination against, an employee or student
- m) Shortcomings in regulatory compliance (as an illustration only, improper hazardous waste disposal)
- n) Theft or misappropriation of University assets for personal benefit

Roles and Responsibilities

- All Benedictine University employees are responsible to:
 - Comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations and University policies and procedures in carrying out his/her duties and responsibilities for the University;
 - Seek guidance about the propriety of any practice under University policies and procedures from his/her supervisor, the Director of the Office of Institutional Compliance and Risk Management;
 - Report misconduct, regardless of whether the employee is personally involved in the matter, to their immediate supervisor, manager, department chair, dean or director, or the University office or official who has responsibility for overseeing compliance with the particular policy or procedure;
 - Consult with Human Resources or the Director of the Office of Inst. Compliance and Risk Management if you are unsure to whom he/she should make a report or address his/her concerns; and
 - Have a reasonable factual or articulable basis for believing that misconduct has occurred, and include as much specific information as possible to allow for proper assessment of the nature, extent and urgency of the misconduct incident or concern, and participate reasonably in activities (including where applicable any investigation) under this policy.
- Employees may make an anonymous report by completing the University's Anonymous Reporting Form on the Human Resources and the Office of Institutional Compliance and Risk Management web pages. All reports are routed directly to the Office of Institutional Compliance and Risk Management for review and then directed to the appropriate University official(s) for follow-up and possible investigation.
- The University is responsible to:
 - Conduct an appropriate and discreet investigation of all reports of misconduct. The details of the investigation will be kept as confidential as feasible, consistent with University policies and applicable federal, state and local laws.
 - Review every report to the hotline. An investigation will be conducted if allegations of unethical or illegal activity are supported by specific information, corroborating evidence, or otherwise have a reasonable factual or articulable basis. Departments within the University that have responsibility for conducting investigations include the following (and may include others, as appropriate): The Provost and Chief Academic Officer, Human Resources, Student Life, Information Technology, the Director of the Office of Institutional Compliance and Risk Management and Business and Finance.
 - Involve other departments in investigations based on their areas of oversight, responsibility or expertise.
 - Provide an appropriate and timely response to each report submitted through the hotline.

Additional Resources:

- Board of Trustees Handbook
- Faculty Handbook
- Employee Handbook
- Benedictine University Conflicts of Interest Policy

Date of Issuance: April 30, 2009

Last Revised: June 27, 2022

Department Responsible: Office of Institutional Compliance and Risk Management